

2.3.4 Shock-surfing acceleration mechanism

Description of the objective:

- Measure the relative strength of the convection vs cross-shock electric field as a function of heliocentric distance.
- Fine-scale structure of shocks with fast density measurements (using satellite potential measurements).